CITIZEN COMMENTS AND QUESTIONS

Marlene Webster, County Commissioner District 1, provided an update of recent events at the County. She indicated that ground had been broken on the new veteran's services office, the Commission is looking for a new County Coordinator, and the project to renovate the courthouse will begin next year requiring all offices to move out of the building.

Eddie Urban, 601 Glenwood Avenue, spoke about a large hole near the railroad tracks and the 3-way stop on Glenwood Avenue. He said someone could be hurt if they stepped in it. He also said that he was in the process of taking down all of the maple trees on his property because of all of the damage they can cause. Lastly, he noted that he is confused about when he should put his brush out to the curb.

Linda Haddix, 2450 Krouse Road Lot 455, said she had previously addressed the Council about her vehicle being towed. She said she requested a copy of the non-preference towing contract but had yet to receive anything. She went on to say that she feels the City discriminated against her when her vehicle was towed by a company other than the one she requested. She also said that the company that did perform the service severely overcharged her. She threatened to go to the media if she didn't receive a copy of the contract.

Mayor Pro-Tem Osika congratulated Pastor Marlene Webster for celebrating the 10-year anniversary of the Owosso City Church.
